Provisions:

The organizer reserves the right to adjust the propositions and course based on current conditions. By registering for the race, each participant confirms they have read and understood the race rules. By registering, they also agree to the processing of personal data and acknowledge they are participating voluntarily. In case of injury or damage, participants waive the right to seek compensation from the organizer. Registration is entirely voluntary and without third-party pressure. This decision is confirmed by signature upon collecting the race number. If snow conditions prevent the race from being held on skis, participants can complete the course on foot without skis. In this case, the event will not be timed, and half of the entry fee will be refunded. Winners will not be announced, but each participant will receive a commemorative medal, race number, and retro headband (for early registrants). Refreshment stations and other activities will still be available.
